

Landscape Designer/ Architect:

Ross Garden Design – Jacksonville, FL.

RGD is a bespoke landscape architecture and design studio located in Jacksonville, FL. Our passion is in providing legacy gardens for our residential clients to enjoy and share with their friends and family over years and generations. Our work is predominantly based in Northeast Florida, but has occasionally expanded to the Southeast as we have collaborated with repeat clients for their other residences. Our team is comprised of landscape architects and designers who share varying interests, but are all devoted to creating beautiful spaces that our clients can enjoy year-round. Projects can range from beach front estates, to intimate courtyard gardens, but each are catered to our clients wants and desires. Our design process is specifically tailored to the wants of the clients, while also being informed by the architectural, ecological, and historical context of the site. We enjoy collaborating with affiliated professionals in the design field, including architects, interior designers, contractors, and consultants to create a shared vision for our client base.
